Triad Ultimate and USA Ultimate, the national governing body for the sport of ultimate in the United States, are celebrating the second annual DISCOVER Ultimate Day on Saturday, September 19, by co-hosting a free, one-hour clinic designed to introduce the sport of ultimate to middle-school-aged kids, but all are welcome to attend.

The nationwide initiative provides an ideal opportunity for kids to learn more about ultimate in a fun, simple and interactive way, including the basic rules of play, fundamental skills and drills, and disc games.

All totaled, DISCOVER Ultimate Day features events in more than 25 cities across the country, including Greensboro.

The clinic is scheduled for 9:30am EST at Gibson Park's upper soccer field with Saturday morning pick-up play to follow. Participation is free, and attendees can register here: DISCOVER Ultimate Day Rego. Clinics are designed for new players between the ages of 10-14, but all are welcome to attend. Register now and receive a free Discraft UltraStar, the Official Game Disc of USA Ultimate (limited to the first 20 registrants).
